Never imply unlimited: the watermark and 3-day window are the F beat, not a footnote. 'Free Forever' is OpusClip's own phrase.

A · HOOK

"You don't need an editor to post clips every day."

The Controversy hook. Flat, certain. Hit 'editor'.

3.25s

B · NUMBER

"Paste in one long video. A podcast, a talk."

The 60 rolls up while you talk. Don't say the number, the screen owns it.

6.55s

C · FEED

"It finds the best moments and captions them."

Matter-of-fact. The cards land on the beat.

9.70s

D · MATH

"One hour of podcast is your whole free month."

The honest math. Slight weight on 'whole'.

12.75s

E · STEPS

"Paste the link. Keep the best clips. Export vertical, captions on."

Three beats, one per step as the dots fill.

17.10s

F · CEILING

"The catch: watermarks, and three days to download."

The anti-hype beat. Calm, unbothered.

19.75s

G · SIGN-OFF

"Comment CLIP. I'll send the steps."

Slowest line in the reel. A door, not a pitch.

ONE-BREATH CLEAN READ

You don't need an editor to post clips every day. Paste in one long video. A podcast, a talk. It finds the best moments and captions them. One hour of podcast is your whole free month. Paste the link. Keep the best clips. Export vertical, captions on. The catch: watermarks, and three days to download. Comment CLIP. I'll send the steps.

BEFORE YOU RECORD

- Record over the _silent cut; the SFX bed on the subs/clean cuts is punctuation, not music.
- The 60, the $29 and the $0 live on screen. The voice never repeats a number the screen is showing except the free-month math.
- CLIP is spoken as the word.
